Canada!

Land of the lake and mountain,
Land of the ice and snow,
Ever her sons can hear her call
Wherever they may go:
Bidding them do their duty,
Whatever the cost may be,
All for the fame of the land they love,
The land of the brave and free.

Canada! Canada!
Fairest land on all the earth:
Thy dear name they acclaim,
Motherland that gave them birth!
Ready all at the call,
Thy brave sons have crossed the sea,
Proud to fight for the right,
Canada— for thee!

Land of the flood and forest,
Land they can ne'er forget,
Theirs be the task to make her great
And still more glorious yet:
So in the nation's story
Her children shall proudly tell
How in the hour of the Empire's need,
Their fathers fought and fell.

Canada! Canada!
Fairest land on all the earth:
Thy dear name they acclaim,
Motherland that gave them birth!
Ready all at the call,
Thy brave sons have crossed the sea,
Proud to fight for the right,
Canada— for thee!

Canada!

(CANADIAN VERSION.)

Land of the lake and mountain,
Land of the ice and snow;
Still in our dreams we can hear her call
Wherever we may go:
Bidding us do our duty,
Whatever the cost may be,
All for the fame of the land we love,
The land of the brave and free.

Canada! Canada!
Fairest land on all the earth:
Thy dear name we acclaim,
Motherland that gave us birth!
Ready all at the call,
We thy sons have crossed the sea,
Proud to fight for the right,
Canada—for thee!

Land of the flood and forest,
Land we can ne'er forget,
Ours be the task to make her great
And still more glorious yet:
So in the nation's story
Her children shall proudly tell
How in the hour of the Empire's need,
Their fathers fought and fell.

Canada! Canada!
Fairest land on all the earth:
Thy dear name we acclaim,
Motherland that gave us birth!
Ready all at the call.
We thy sons have crossed the sea
Proud to fight for the right,
Canada—for thee!
